

You will be doing the public who did sign up for the DO NOT CALL LIST a dis-service by reinstating any type of telemarketing calls, even those companies that we have conducted business within the last 18 months. First, we the public, are not morons, and if we did conduct business with a company within the last 18 months, we know how to contact them if we want/need to. Second, there was a reason we signed up for the DO NOT CALL LIST and that is WE DO NOT WANT UNSOLICITED CALLS. These people call at all times of the day, but my experience has been it is usually around dinnertime when they know people who work are home. If it is so critical that the telemarketers need to contact me let them pay the 37 cent stamp and mail me whatever it is they are trying to sell me. Thank you.
